J ohnny Rutherford was a different kind of man to Stirling Moss. He was a more private individual, and not as well known to the public. But his skills as a driver were just as good, if not better than Moss’s. He began his career in the 1940s, racing in various circuits around the UK. Rutherford was a natural talent, and his driving style was unique. He was known for his precision and his ability to read the track. In 1950, he moved to the United States to race in the Indianapolis 500, where he finished in third place. Rutherford continued to race in various circuits around the world, including the British Grand Prix, where he finished fourth in 1955. He also raced in the Formula One World Championship, where he finished second in the 1958 British Grand Prix. Rutherford retired from racing in 1962, but his influence on the sport of racing continued. He was a mentor to many young drivers and helped shape the sport of racing for years to come. He passed away in 2005, but his legacy lives on in the world of racing.ction.
An icon of the 1970s...the story of a life

Chapter 1
Deaths - the unexpected - 1993
Chapter 2
Established - 1974
Chapter 3
The perfect parents - 1942
Chapter 4
Less than perfect schooldays - 1955-1964
Chapter 5
Metamorphosis - doctor to driver - 1965-1967
Chapter 6
The embarrassment factor
Chapter 7
Mini Racer - 1967
Chapter 8
Into Formula Ford - 1968-1969
Chapter 9
The fateful meeting as two paths cross - 1971
Chapter 10
Meeting Sarah and wedding no two - 1982
Chapter 11
Two of the most difficult years of my life - 1982
Chapter 12
Goodbye Baby Jane - 1982
Chapter 13
The Turning Point - meeting Bubbles and Alexander - 1972
Chapter 14
Character building and lack of a Plan 'B' - 1972
Chapter 15
Finally Formula One beckons - 1973
Chapter 16
Established in Formula One - 1974
Chapter 17
Showdown in Japan - 1976
Chapter 18
Premature goodbye to a great champion - 1994
Chapter 19
The First Win - 1975
Chapter 20
Nearly down and out of Formula One - 1975
Chapter 21
The Championship Year, January to June - 1976
Chapter 22
Near Death Experience - Niki Lauda - 1976
Chapter 23
The Championship Year, June to November - 1976
Chapter 24
The Championship Year, November to December - 1976
Chapter 25
Showdown in Japan - 1976
Chapter 26
Reigning World Champion - 1976-1977
Chapter 27
The embarrassment factor
Chapter 28
A desperately disappointing title defence - 1977
Chapter 29
A fear of death takes hold
Chapter 30
The end of the road with McLaren - 1978
Chapter 31
Disaster on the ski slopes - 1980
Chapter 32
The psychology of a champion
Chapter 33
The psychology of a champion
Chapter 34
The return to Britain - 1980
Chapter 35
Disaster on the ski slopes - 1980
Chapter 36
Fleetwood Mac, the BBC and all that - 1980
Chapter 37
Goodbye Baby Jane - 1982
Chapter 38
Character building and lack of a Plan 'B' - 1972
Chapter 39
Family Life, Freddie and Tom and...the budgerigars
Chapter 40
Black dog and his lost decade
Chapter 41
Separation from Sarah and financial disaster - 1990
Chapter 42
Helen's arrival sparks a personal revival - 1990-1993
Chapter 43
Premature goodbye to a great champion - 1994
Chapter 44
Life after James
Chapter 45
The art of driving, James Hunt style